

Call Process Update

Sunday, September 17, 2017

As you have read in the Pilgrim newsletter, we had hoped that we would soon have a congregational meeting to vote on a call to an associate pastor. However, we do not have a candidate whom we can recommend to you. We had reached consensus, but that candidate decided that Pilgrim's call was not a fit for the next phase of the candidate's ministry journey. So, the call committee will be gathering soon, to debrief and to meet with our synod staff liaison person, to make a plan for next steps.

This is a not uncommon unfolding in call processes, yet it is a disappointing one. But in this mutual discernment process, we trust that the Holy Spirit is at work. And we will continue to pray for the Spirit's guidance for the road ahead. Please join us in those prayers.
